

Water We Up To?

Poop to Power: The Piscataway Bioenergy Facility Is Live!

With the grand opening of our state-of-the-art Bioenergy Facility on October 30, we're turning poop into power by transforming how we handle biosolids resulting from the wastewater treatment process. The excitement-filled celebration, complete with the "flushing" of a giant toilet, made for a memorable event.

Demystifying Unexplained Toilet Leaks

On World Toilet Day (11/19), we used our transparent toilet, complete with a digital cost tracker, to demonstrate how even the smallest toilet leak can lead to high water bills. We also showed how much water is wasted and how to check your toilets for leaks. That's cost-saving -- and water-saving -- news for our customers.
